

As I promised, here is How to Buy & Sell Your WoW On Your Own!

Keep in mind; there I have over 200 pages of gold tips in my book "Gold Secrets Guide".

Buy & Sell Your WoW Stuff On Your Own

Are you tired of searching for a suitable platform which allows you to sell your WoW account, currency, items, game cards or even TCG loot cards? Have you stumbled upon websites that charges you an arm and a leg for listing your offers? Well look no further as WoWBay.net has emerged to provide WoW players with a free platform to do just that.

To put it in a nutshell, WoWBay.net is a classified ads portal serving specifically World of Warcraft players. You can easily create an ad to offer say an extra 60days game card you received as a gift. Enter all the details a potential buyer should know and your email address. Once posted, buyers can reach you using the form on your ad which will then be forwarded to your email to protect your privacy. Negotiation then will commence between both parties and upon agreement, transaction can then be completed.

As you can see, it is a very clear-cut portal that leaves everything to the buyer and seller to decide without costing a single cent to participate in. All ads are valid for 60days and will automatically be purged upon expiry to keep the listing of ads fresh. You can even pause or delete your ad in the event you item has already been sold.

WoWBay.net seems to cover all the servers from US, EU to even China, Taiwan and Korea. This is great especially when more players use it for ease of finding specific things we would like to buy. A quick glance at the Help page will explain how things work even further such as your ad validity.
